Upcoming Firearms Instructor Training

NRA Instructor Candidates must attend and have an NRA Basic course completion certificate in the discipline (Pistol, Rifle, etc.) PRIOR to attending the associated NRA Instructor course. Additionally, all candidates must pass a pre-course qualification that evaluates your hand-on proficiency with the fundamentals of safe gun handling and basic marksmanship/shooting skills.

NRA Basic Instructor Training (BIT) is the first required NRA instructor course for new instructor candidates. It is the NRA class that helps candidates, who already have subject matter expertise, learn how to conduct a class the NRA way so that their students earn recognized NRA certification(s). This course teaches you the policies and procedures for becoming an NRA instructor as well as effective teaching methods for training students. BIT is good for 24 months for any additional Instructor ratings; after this period, you must take BIT again to add an additional instructor rating.

Prospective USCCA instructors do not need to complete BIT for USCCA Instructor Certification. The USCCA requires a minimum of three students to conduct a USCCA Instructor Certification class.
